

hack :: peel

sponsorship package

What is hack::peel?

hack::peel is a student-run hackathon that aims to provide a platform to developers, designers, and entrepreneurs that are in high school in the Peel Region. hack::peel caters to all skill levels, from beginners to those that are vastly experienced. In a hackathon, participants can team with others to create innovative software and hardware projects. Hackathons are also known for fun workshops, being able to socialize with like-minded peers, food, and swag.

Why sponsor?

Whether it is through mentorship, workshops, swag, or free credits, assisting and guiding high school students is an excellent way to connect with and form relationships with some of the most talented and ambitious high schoolers in the Peel Region. hack::peel gives your company a platform to showcase what it can offer in many different ways.
